

New Zero Tolerance Speed Cameras

See the attached. Don't say you haven't been warned.

With the road toll continuing to increase each year especially around the Christmas Holiday period, this will be the first year that Zero Tolerance Speed Cameras will be introduced in New Zealand in December gearing up to the holiday period.

The new cameras look different to the normal cameras, so I have included a photo so that you are familiar with them and able to make sure not to speed when approaching.

Please take this warning seriously as you will not get another chance.
